Additional Comments

During the inspection today, I noticed that food employees go from the prep room to the cooking room while wearing gloves. These employees then contaminate their gloves by coming into contact with the doorknob(s) in between the door. I highly recommend this door is either left open, changed to foot peddle access, swinging door, etc. to prevent glove contamination during food preparation. Until the door is changed, please remind all employees that gloves will need to be changed after contacting door knobs and hands washed.
